Chapter 46

Genesis 46 can be divided into three sections: Jacob's final encounter with the Lord, a count of all of Jacob's descendants at or around this time, and Jacob's reunion with his son Joseph in the land of Egypt.

Jacob and his large family set out with all they own for the land of Egypt. As wealthy people they would be driving many sheep and cattle, as well as bringing all the wives, children, and goods in wagons provided by the Egyptian Pharaoh. Before leaving the Promised Land of Canaan, however, Jacob stops at Beersheba to offer sacrifices to God. In response, God speaks to Jacob, referred to in this passage using his God-given name of Israel (Genesis 35:10). God tells Jacob that he should not be afraid to move his family to Egypt. God promises to continue to be with him and to make a great nation of Israel even within Egypt.

Finally, God sweetly tells Jacob that his once long-lost son, Joseph, will be the one to close his eyes in death (Genesis 46:1–4).

1. (Genesis 46:1) When Israel sets out for Egypt with all his family and possessions, what does he do when he reaches Beersheba? he offered sacrifices to the God of his father, Isaac.

2. Genesis 46:3-4) God tells Israel "I am the God of your father, do not be afraid."

What four promises does God make to Israel?

3. I will bring you back again.
4. Joseph will be with you to close your eyes.

4. (Genesis 46:30) What did Israel/Jacob say to Joseph after he had appeared to/presented himself to him?

"Now I am ready to die, since I have seen your face again and know you are still alive."

Understanding Genesis 46:34

Joseph is preparing his father and his brothers to meet Pharaoh for the first time. They have come to Egypt, to the land of Goshen, at Pharaoh's invitation (Genesis 45:16–20). Now that they have arrived, Joseph seems very concerned that they present themselves to Pharaoh only as keepers of livestock and not as tradesmen in any other industry. He notes that Egyptians have a distaste for shepherds—so he might be asking them to emphasize their family's role in raising cattle, as those animals were more respected in Egyptian culture.

Chapter 47

The last several chapters explained how Joseph, Jacob's son by Rachel (Genesis 46:19), came to bring his family to live in Egypt. Genesis 47 begins with Joseph's family appearing before Pharaoh at court in a formal audience. Joseph selects five of his brothers to represent the family. When Pharaoh asks them their occupations, they reply as Joseph had coached them. They describe themselves as lifelong shepherds, and they formally ask Pharaoh that they be allowed to settle in the fertile region of Goshen. This is an interesting choice, as Joseph has noted that Egyptians generally look down on herdsmen (Genesis 46:34). His motives may be both practical and spiritual. By making it clear that the entire family is involved in shepherding, he lessens suspicion from Egyptians that these immigrants will displace them from work. Spiritually, living somewhere separate from most other Egyptians would help to preserve Israel's commitment to God (Genesis 47:1–4).

1. (Genesis 47:3) When Joseph's father, brothers and their flocks and herds came from the land of Canaan, Joseph took five of his brothers and went to Pharaoh.

What did Pharaoh ask his brothers?

"What is your occupation?"

How did they respond? "We, your servants, are shepherds, just like our ancestors."

2. (Genesis 47:4) What reason did the brothers give Pharaoh why they were in Egypt?
for there is no pasture for our flocks in Canaan.

3. (Genesis 47:5-6) What did Pharaoh say about where Joseph's family could live and whom did he address it to?

"Now that your father and brothers have joined you here, choose any place in the entire land of Egypt for them to live.

Give them the best land of Egypt. Let them live in the region of Goshen.

4. (Genesis 47:6b) What did Pharaoh ask Joseph about the men?

if any of them have special skills, put them in charge of my livestock, too.

5. (Genesis 47:8-9) When Joseph brought in his father and set him before Pharaoh, what did Pharaoh ask him? "How old are you?"
What was Jacob's answer? 130
6. (Genesis 47:12) What did Joseph provide for his father, his brothers, and all his father's household?
in amounts appropriate to the number of their dependents, including the smallest children.
7. (Genesis 47:14) What did Joseph gather up/collect in all of Egypt and Canaan?
all the money
What did he exchange it for? grain
What did he do with what he had gathered up/collected?
he put the money in Pharaoh's treasury.
8. (Genesis 47:15-16) When the money failed (ran out) in all of Egypt and Canaan, and the people said give us bread, for why should we die? What did Joseph tell them?
"Since your money is gone, bring me your livestock.
I will give you food in exchange for your livestock."
9. (Genesis 47:28) How long did Jacob live in the land of Egypt? seventeen years
What was the length of Jacob's life? 147 years

Notes on Genesis 47:29

It's not clear exactly when this conversation took place. Jacob came into Egypt speaking as if he was about to die (Genesis 46:30), only to live another seventeen years (Genesis 47:28). Whenever it happened, it's in a moment when Jacob is planning for the aftermath of his own death. He has successfully resettled his large family in Egypt, and they are thriving (Genesis 47:27). He knows the family will not be leaving this area any time soon. A key concern in Jacob's mind is burial: he doesn't want his remains to stay in Egypt. He wants to be interred with his ancestors, in Canaan (Genesis 47:30).

. In your own words. Where did Jacob/Israel want to make sure he was buried, why?

Chapter 48

Notes on Genesis 48

After settling in Egypt (Genesis 47), Jacob gives a major portion of his family blessing to Joseph's two oldest sons: Ephraim and Manasseh.

Jacob had talked about dying for many years (Genesis 37:35; 47:9), but now he truly nears the end of his days. If this scene takes place immediately before the events of chapter 49, Jacob is literally on his deathbed. Joseph, hearing of his father's illness, comes to Jacob's side with his two oldest sons to receive a blessing. Jacob's frailty is reflected in the effort it takes him to sit up in bed (Genesis 48:1–2).

Weakness aside, Jacob has clearly prepared for this moment. He begins by pointedly recalling one of the times God Almighty appeared to him in Luz—also known as Bethel—and the promise God made to make his descendants into a nation with their home in Canaan (Genesis 28:12–15). It is important that Joseph understands the significance of this promise for himself and his sons after him. He announces that he is claiming Joseph's two oldest sons as his own sons. In fact, he will elevate their position in the family above his actual oldest sons Reuben and Simeon. In doing so, Joseph's family will receive a double portion of the inheritance. It's significant that even now, the loss of Rachel is still fresh in Jacob's mind. Perhaps claiming Ephraim and Manasseh as his own sons is a way to honor her once more (Genesis 48:3–7).

1. (Genesis 48:4) When Jacob was told, "Joseph was coming to you", he strengthened himself and sat up in bed. What did he tell Joseph God had told him when he was in Luz in the land of Canaan?

'I will make you fruitful, and I will multiply your descendants.'

I will make you a multitude of nations. And I will give this land of Canaan to your descendants after you as an everlasting possession.'

2. (Genesis 48:5) What does Jacob say about Joseph's two sons, Ephraim and Manasseh?

I am claiming as my own sons these two boys of yours,

3. (Genesis 48:12-13) When Joseph brought his two sons to Jacob, Joseph was bowed down with his face to the earth. How did he have his two sons positioned to Jacob?

Manasseh: at Jacob's right hand

4. (Genesis 48:17) How did Joseph feel about the blessing that Jacob was about to give to his two sons? Joseph was upset

What did he do about it?

Joseph lifted it to move it from Ephraim's head to Manasseh's head.

5. (Genesis 48:18) What did Joseph tell his father after he switched his right hand to the younger son and after he prayed over them?

"No, my father," he said. "This one is the firstborn. Put your right hand on his head."

6. (Genesis 48:19) What did Jacob tell Joseph about the youngest of his two sons?

his younger brother will become even greater.

And his descendants will become a multitude of nations.

7. (Genesis 48:21) When Jacob is about to die, what does he announce to Joseph?

God will be with you and will take you back to Canaan, the land of your ancestors.

8. (Genesis 48:22) What does Jacob say about the portion of land that he is going to give Joseph?

I am giving you an extra portion of the land that I took from the Amorites with my sword and bow.

Note on Genesis 48:22

The area Jacob mentions was, it seems, taken from the Amorites. Prior references in Genesis did not include that detail, but the same area is later known as Sychar and is the site of a well apparently dug by Jacob (John 4:4–5). This is where Joseph's remains will be buried, after Israel is liberated from Egyptian slavery (Joshua 24:32).

Chapter 49

About Genesis 49

Before he dies, Jacob urgently seeks to complete two important pieces of business with his twelve sons. First, he wishes to give a prophetic message appropriate to each. While these are titled “blessings,” not all are positive. These are presented more as predictions than bestowing favors. Second, he wants to command them to bury his body in Canaan and not in Egypt.

1. (Genesis 49:1) Jacob asked his sons to gather together, what is it he wanted to tell them?

what will happen to each of you in the days to come.

2. (Genesis 49:3-4) How does Jacob say that Reuben defiled him?

what will happen to each of you in the days to come.

3. (Genesis 49:6) What does Jacob say that Simeon and Levi had done in anger?

they murdered men,

4. (Genesis 49:9) In this verse how does Jacob compare Judah to a lion?

Judah, my son, is a young lion that has finished eating its prey.

Like a lion he crouches and lies down; like a lioness—who dares to rouse him?

5. (Genesis 49:13) How does Jacob say Zebulun will come associated with ships?

and will be a harbor for ships;

6. (Genesis 49:15) What does Jacob say Issachar says about rest and the land?

he sees how good the countryside is and how pleasant the land,

7. (Genesis 49:17) What shall Dan be and what does he do and cause according to Jacob?

Dan will be a snake beside the road,

a poisonous viper along the path that bites the horse's hooves so its rider is thrown off.

8. (Genesis 49:19) Jacob said Gad will be tramp/attacked/raided but how will he respond?
but he will attack them when they retreat.

9. (Genesis 49:20) What does Jacob say that Asher will do?
will dine on rich foods and produce food fit for kings.

10. (Genesis 49:21) What nice things does Jacob have to say about Naphtali?
“Asher will dine on rich foods and produce food fit for kings.

11. (Genesis 49:22) How does Jacob compare Joseph to a fruitful vine (except NLT)?
“Joseph is the foal of a wild donkey, the foal of a wild donkey at a spring—
—one of the wild donkeys on the ridge. (this is completely different then all other Bible versions)

12. (Genesis 49:27) What does Benjamin do for Jacob to compare him to a wolf?
devouring his enemies in the morning and dividing his plunder in the evening.”

13. (Genesis 49:29-30) After Jacob blessed these twelve tribes of Israel, he charged/instructed/commanded them to do what and where?
Bury me with my father and grandfather in the cave in the field of Ephron the Hittite.
This is the cave in the field of Machpelah, near Mamre in Canaan,

Notes on Genesis 49:28

In that sense, Jacob blessed some of his sons in the same way his father Isaac “blessed” his brother Esau (Genesis 27:38–40). Jacob delivered to each son exactly what was appropriate for each; that was not necessarily what those sons wanted.

This verse also marks the first time, in Genesis, where Jacob’s sons and their offspring are described as the “twelve tribes of Israel” (Genesis 35:10–11).

14. (Genesis 49:31) The Cave that is in the field of Ephron the Hittite in Canaan where Jacob has told the tribes to bury him, according to this verse who is all buried there?

- | | | |
|------------|----------|----------|
| 1. Abraham | 2. Sarah | 3. Isaac |
| 4. Rebekah | 5. Leah | |

Chapter 50

Jacob's death hit Joseph hard. After ordering Jacob's body to be embalmed—likely meaning mummified—by the Egyptian doctors, Joseph will set about obeying his father's final wish to be buried in Canaan (Genesis 49:29–32). First, however, the state of Egypt observes an official 70-day period of mourning. This is an extraordinary gesture towards a man otherwise unconnected to that culture (Genesis 50:1–3).

Though Joseph has been invested with incredible authority (Genesis 41:44), he is still technically a slave to the ruler of Egypt. This king, known by the title Pharaoh, must be consulted if Joseph is to leave the country. He asks through a messenger, possibly because those in mourning were not allowed to physically see the Pharaoh. Not only does Pharaoh agree to allow Joseph and his brothers to leave for the burial, he sends a huge delegation of Egyptian servants and dignitaries along to honor Jacob. In addition, Pharaoh sends horsemen and chariots. As with Jacob's mourning period, this is an extravagant affair (Genesis 50:4–9).

1. (Genesis 50:2) Whom did Joseph command/direct/told? physicians who served him
What did he command them to do? to embalm his father's body
2. (Genesis 50:3) What were the required amount of days for embalming? forty days.
How many days did the Egyptians mourn/wept? seventy days
3. (Genesis 50:4-5) What did Joseph ask Pharaoh's house/court/advisers after his father died? please allow me to go and bury my father.
What did he say he would do after that? I will return without delay.
4. (Genesis 50:7-8) Who all went with Joseph to bury his father?
all of Pharaoh's officials, all the senior members of Pharaoh's household, and all the senior officers of Egypt. Joseph also took his entire household and his brothers and their households.

What family members didn't go? their little children

5. (Genesis 50:10) When Joseph and the rest of the group going to bury Jacob got to the threshing floor of Atad how long did he mourn? seven-day period

6. (Genesis 50:15-17) In your own words, describe the fear that the brothers had for Joseph after Jacob had died. What were they planning on doing?

7. (Genesis 50:20) What statement did Joseph make about what the brothers meant and what God meant, to ease the brother's fear about what they thought Joseph may do now that their father was dead?

You intended to harm me, but God intended it all for good.

What did Joseph say actually came out of what they did?

so I could save the lives of many people.

8. (Genesis 50:22) How long did Joseph live? 110

9. (Genesis 50:24) When Joseph knew he was dying what did he tell his brothers God would do? God will surely come to help you and lead you out of this land of Egypt.

He will bring you back to the land he solemnly promised to give to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob."

10. (Genesis 50:25) What oath from the children of Israel did Joseph take or make the Israelites swear after he said God will surely visit you?

you must take my bones with you.

This ends the book of Genesis.

The early verses of the book of Exodus explain how Israel grew and prospered. That process continued for centuries. Unfortunately, a new regime will come to power in Egypt, with no memory or love of Joseph. This dynasty will be the one to brutally enslave Jacob's descendants, setting up God's rescue and the establishment of Israel as a nation (Exodus 1:6–14).
